Santa Fe Places Huge Order for New Equipment

Convincing evidence of the Santa Fe's confidence in the continued upturn of business was seen in the announcement, made this week by M. J. Collins, general purchasing agent of the company, of orders in excess of $20,000,000 for new freight cars, locomotives, rail, and rail fastenings.

That company's order for rail, tie plates, angle bars, bolts and spikes was for 155,000 tons at an approximate cost of $6,135,000, the largest order placed for steel rail and fastenings since 1929 by any railroad.

Copy of Patent Issued Lincoln Received Here

Did you know that Abraham Lincoln was an inventor and that a patent is registered in his name at the U. S. Patent Office in Washington?

A copy of this patent and its accompanying three drawings was recently received by J. D. Spaulding, vice president of the National Supply Company. Taken out on May 22, 1849, while the Civil War President was a budding young lawyer in Springfield, Ill., the patent was for a manner of buoying vessels "to pass over bars or thru shallow water without removing cargo or passengers."

It is not known whether Lincoln realized any financial benefits from his idea, gained from his experience as a flat-boatman on the Mississippi and Ohio rivers, or if any vessels using the buoying device were built.

Henry Bassetti THE AMBASSADOR CHEF SAYS:

"GAS COOKS BETTER AND COSTS LESS"

It isn't just a single dish that has made Henry Bassetti of the Los Angeles Ambassador famous for delicious foods. Everything has to be just right at the Ambassador.

That's one reason why this distinguished hotel uses natural gas for cooking. Nothing equals gas for roasting, baking, frying—and boiling!

Because of its speed and intensity, gas heat browns meats without loss of juices. It permits the ventilation needed to produce crisp, juicy roasts without a flat, "steamed" flavor. It gives even heat with full scale of temperatures for baking, and quick high heat, uniformly spread under the skillet, for frying. And of course natural gas brings foods to a boil very fast.

Enjoy this favored fuel of great hotels—in your own kitchen—with a new, modern gas range. The latest models are on display at gas appliance dealers' or at your gas company.
